

DO YOU WANT TO WORK WITH THE BEST?

COME WORK WITH US!

www.da-group.fi

DA-Group is a strongly growing high technology company that designs and manufactures advanced electronics solutions and products. We are an innovative company with the best talents in the industry.

In just under 30 years, we have grown from a small engineering company run by a few individuals into a provider of large-scale products and systems. We serve industrial companies and defence and space technology organizations. We have extensive expertise and we offer interesting career opportunities!

We are continuously looking for new talent. You can be a future star just starting your career, or a seasoned professional. What matters most is the right attitude and the motivation to learn! Take a closer look at what positions we offer in the descriptions below.

Manufacturing

Our headquarters are in Forssa, which is also the location of our modern manufacturing facilities. In manufacturing, you can work with, for example, electronics and equipment manufacturing or precision mechanics. We also have our own cleanroom for manufacturing products with a high quality standard.

Testing

Our testing experts test our customers' electronic equipment and systems at the product development and manufacturing phase. The work includes functional, electronic, mechanical, environmental and conditions testing of RF and electronic equipment and systems in our testing laboratory.

Defence industry

We are a trusted partner of both the Finnish and international defence industry and defence forces. In a highly safety-critical industry, you get to work in unique projects involving product development, design, software development, project management, or perhaps even signal processing or safety and security.

Space industry

We have been collaborating with the European Space Agency (ESA) and global satellite manufacturers for several decades. Our space industry division offers you the chance to work in unique projects, for example, in RF, electronics or mechanical engineering, quality assurance or project management roles.

Industry

We operate as a long-term product and system partner for industry and public transport organizations. We manufacture, among other things, information systems, safety technologies, display solutions and software for our customers. Our world-class experts work in product development, design, project management, sales and maintenance.

Administration, financials, ICT, HR, marketing and communications

Our "Competence in our own hands" ideology is reflected in the diverse range of tasks performed by our administrative assistants, CFO, HR coordinators, marketing managers and ICT specialists. Working in these roles, you can assist our entire personnel in various specialist tasks.

At DA-Group, you can see the results of your work, whether you work in manufacturing or in a specialist role. Some jobs also involve working close to the customer interface.

If you wish to challenge yourself and develop hand in hand with DA's first-class team, please contact us and send your application today:
